

Subject: Re: Request for Permissions to Translate Articles on jvns.ca
From: "Julia Evans" <julia@jvns.ca>
Date: 2024-04-26, 9:26 a.m.
To: "FOSScope GROUP" <fosscope@fosscope.org>

Go ahead, thanks for asking! Can you send me a link to one of the translations when it's up?

– Julia

On Thu, Apr 25, 2024, at 9:53 PM, FOSScope GROUP wrote:

Dear Julia Evans,

I'm writing to you on behalf of FOSScope, a newly established organization that focuses on providing high-quality FOSS-related content for Chinese FOSS users. We have been long-time readers of your articles on <jvns.ca> and some of us were translator at LinuxCN Translation Team, who was already translating your articles but is now no longer under operation. We believe that it's important to continue to provide your high quality contents to the Chinese FOSS community, so we kindly ask for your permission to translate your articles and repost them on our website and other social media platforms.

We use CC BY-SA as the license for our contents, so we can assure you that proper credits will be given for all translated articles, with the information of the original source, author, and a link that points to the original article on your website.

Your approval of this endeavour would mean a great deal to us, and we assure you that we will uphold the integrity of your work throughout the translation process.

Thank you for considering our request.

Best regards,

Qian Qian "Cubik"

Co-Founder & Translation Group Leader, FOSScope

cubik65536@fosscope.org

cubik65536.top